

Dr. Hardy Named As Staff Physician For County S.P.C.C.

Dr. Harriet L. Hardy, for two years staff physician at the Northfield Seminary, has been chosen as the first physician for the Franklin County S. P. C. C. The appointment was made at a meeting of the directors held last Thursday in Greenfield and attended by the following: Mrs. Lawrence Ewing, Mrs. E. H. Stevens, Mrs. H. S. duMont, Mrs. George Sheldon, Miss Anna Koch, Mrs. W. H. Nichols, Rev. J. B. Whiteman, L. M. Walker and Mrs. Fred Holton of Northfield, Miss Harriet Childs of Deerfield, and R. S. Hubbard of Boston.

A graduate of Wellesley and Cornell medical colleges, Dr. Hardy has devoted considerable time to the work of the county S. P. C. C. with Miss Adelaide Hood, district agent, during the past winter. In addition to her Seminary work she has also conducted private practice in and around Northfield. During the recent flood she did much relief work, assisting in the Red Cross.

The appointment of Dr. Hardy by the county S. P. C. C. will permit all special medical work of the chapter to be done here instead of in Boston.

Friends of Dr. Hardy are extending their congratulations to Dr. Hardy who also remains as staff physician with the Seminary.

Boy Missing

Walter Luciw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Luciw of Meadow street, Northfield, a student in Mount Hermon school, has been missing from home for seven weeks. He is 16 years old and it is presumed he has started out to earn his own living. His mother, who is broken with grief, prays that he may soon return to his home.

Don't forget that Daylight Saving Time starts next Sunday. Put your clock and watch an hour ahead.

Subscribers desiring extra copies of the Press containing the flood news should make their requests known at once. The demand already has been so large as to deplete the file of some issues.

"Impatience of Job;" Plans Going Forward For Big Production

Active preparations are under way for the coming production of the "Impatience of Job" and rehearsals are nightly being held. The management is in real earnest to put on a play that shall exceed the efforts of last year and realize a sufficient sum to send the senior class of the high school on their way rejoicing for a visit to the Nation's Capitol.

The players and the characters they assume are as follows: Tom Benson, Robert deVeer; Amarilla Benson, Rena Tyler; Una Benson, Marian Leach; Maybelle Benson, Arleen Eccles; Uncle Job Benson, Donald Finch; Drucy, Winona Robinson; Neil Ramsey, Lewis Wood; Aunt Julia Peterson, Julia Austin; Dr. Bland, Lawrence Quinlan; Mr. John MacIntyre, Leon Alexander. The cooperation of the community is being shown by the fact that the following citizens have expressed their willingness to act as Patrons and Patronesses for the SENIOR WASHINGTON TRIP. We hope to have a larger list for next week's issue of the Press.

Dr. and Mrs. Allen Wright, Dr. and Mrs. F. Wilton Dean, Dr. and Mrs. Roger Hubbard, Dr. and Mrs. Marian Holton, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Colton, Rev. and Mrs. George A. Bronson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Montague, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Hoehn, Mr. and Mrs. Rolf Carmean, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Leach, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leach, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Irish, Mr. and Mrs. Vernal Hurlburt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gingham, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Galen Stearns, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Dunnell, Mr. and Mrs. Harry James, Mr. and Mrs. George Dunnell, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Skilton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Tenney, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Briesmaster, Mr. and Mrs. Lumen Barber, Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Buffum, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Griggs, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Newton.

Mr. Lawrence Quilan, Mr. Lyle Amsden, Mr. Waldo Stebbins.

Commencement Speaker Chosen At Hermon By Class of 1936

Austin MacCormick, Commissioner of Correction of the City of New York, has been chosen by the graduating class of 1936 for the Commencement exercises on June 8th as the speaker.

Mr. MacCormick has been prominent in the work of Prison Reform throughout the United States and before taking up the great work in New York City under Mayor LaGuardia was with the United States Bureau of Prisons at Washington. Although prominent in educational work after his graduation from Bowdoin College in 1915 and from Columbia University, he early turned to a study of prison conditions in Maine, then with the Navy Department in their prison work, thence to a survey of prisons in the country west of the Mississippi for the Carnegie Foundation and finally with the U. S. government. Mr. MacCormick will doubtless refer much to his work of prison reform in his commencement address.

HERMON NEWS

Nelson A. Jackson, chairman of the Mathematics Department, and director of scholarship at Mount Hermon school, is this week attending the spring meeting of the Connecticut Valley association of Teachers of Mathematics in New England, which is being held at the Choate School, Wallingford, Conn. Mr. Jackson is president of the Connecticut Valley section of the association. A former member of the Mount Hermon faculty, Mr. Carroll G. Ross, will be one of the speakers at the session. Mr. Ross is now teaching in Scarsdale, N. Y.

A baseball privilege, the first this spring, was enjoyed by the senior classes of Mount Hermon and the Seminary, last Saturday afternoon. The young ladies were escorted to the athletic field where they witnessed two games, the first between the Seniors and Sophomores and one between the Juniors and Freshmen. Leaving the athletic field, the couples visited the Hobby Show, and later at West Hall, danced to the tunes of the Mount Hermon jazz orchestra before returning to the Seminary.

Saturday assembly services were given over to the Board of Alumni Counsellors of the Alumni Association. Mr. Babson, Scout executive of Waterbury, Conn., and member of that board, addressed the assembled students briefly. In the evening the senior class were the guests of the board at a banquet given to welcome the seniors to the ranks of the Alumni. After a delicious dinner, talks were given by several members of the Board of Alumni Counsellors. Chief among these was the one given by Mr. "Sime" Yarrow, who spoke concerning the responsibilities which accompany the privileges gained at Hermon. Cards certifying membership in the Alumni Association were presented of each member of the outgoing class. At the conclusion of the banquet seniors and counsellors joined the rest of the students at Camp Hall where they were entertained by The Last Days of Pompeii.

The speaker in Sunday chapel services was Dr. Boynton Merrill of Newton.

Hermonites Thursday evening enjoyed the privilege of hearing Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa in the Northfield Seminary Auditorium.

The entertainment course for Saturday evening consists of Muttiny on the Bonny with an all-star cast including Charles Laughton and Clark Gable.

UNDAUNTED DAFFODILS

It is raining, raining, raining. Till the world is over-full; The fog is thick and heavy. And the skies are low and dull. And the wind among the pine-tops Murmurs with complaining voice. And the sodden fields are happy. And the daffodils rejoice.

It is raining, raining, raining. All the day long it does not stop; And there seems to be a fairy In each swift descending drizzle. And the earth is dark and dismal. And the hours that drag away Linger with unwanted slowness. But the daffodils are gay. —Arthur Goodenough West Brattleboro

Congregationalists Met At Sunderland; Porter Was Speaker

The Franklin County Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers held an all-day session on Monday with the Congregational Church at Sunderland and featured an important address by Dr. David R. Porter of Mount Hermon on "Education Suitable for These Times."

Rev. Gordon Brokenshire of Conway led the devotional service and spoke briefly on the "Effective Church," which was the theme of the meeting. Rev. William P. Barton, pastor of the Sunderland Congregational church, gave the greeting and Frank A. Yeaw of Greenfield, president of the association, responded.

Rev. Albert Kettell of Shilburne Falls read the financial report as well as the reports of the advisory and ministerial standing boards, and the evangelistic committees. Ambert Moody of Northfield, Rev. O. J. Billings of Orange and Rev. Frederick L. Dixon of Heath were appointed on resolutions. Rev. Charles Merriam of Deerfield, Deane Jones of Shelburne Falls and Fred Kohler of Greenfield were named as the nominating committee.

It was voted to hold the association's fall meet at the Second Congregational church of Greenfield during the third week in September. Frank Yeaw was elected to serve with Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Blackmer of Belchertown as delegates to the general council of Congregational churches to be held in South Hadley in June. Rev. Arthur Truesdell of Bernardston, Mrs. Ambert Moody of Northfield and Rev. O. J. Billings of Orange were elected alternates.

A change of date of the meeting of the association to the fourth Wednesday in April and September was recommended, to be voted on at the fall meeting.

Dr. Porter in his address said in part that "The definite aim in education has been sacrificed somewhat to technique." He spoke highly of the work of the progressive schools and said he considered their efforts toward arousing the interest of the pupils efficient, but not entirely sufficient. "Education must combine interest and discipline and a definite work program is a great aid in this." The speaker said he believed a real demonstration of world-mindedness is a present-day challenge to the Christian church. A large delegation from the local Congregational church attended the meeting.

Spring Wardrobe Review By New York Stylist At Brattleboro

Mrs. Evelyn Tobey, New York Stylist, will bring to Windham County home-makers and their guests from Bennington County and Massachusetts communities an inspirational and practical talk Monday, May 4 at the Auditorium in Brattleboro. The afternoon program will begin promptly at 1:30 (E. S. T.).

Mrs. Tobey's Spring Wardrobe will include not only attractive dresses but a fine display of accessories and a lot of good advice on how to wear them. Good grooming and good posture contribute to style and should be given importance by the home-maker.

Members of Home Demonstration groups have ordered tickets from their local leaders and will receive them during the week. Ticket holders will be given the first seats so it is to one's advantage to have one and be on time. Order now from the Farm Bureau office. An invitation is extended to all Northfield folks who are interested.

INTERESTING ITEMS

There is a strong possibility that the annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal churches of New England will hold its sessions in Greenfield next year.

Railroads killed 1300 motorists and injured 3000 others at grade crossings last year. "Stop, Look and Listen" are still the three best admonitions, says the National Grange, particularly at secondary highway railway crossings.

The Brookings Institution has compiled figures which show that during 1929 six million families in the United States had incomes under $1,000; twelve million families under $1,500; sixteen million families received less than $2,000, while nineteen million families were under $2,500.

A Large Audience Greeted Dr. Kagawa At The Auditorium

A large audience greeted Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa at the Auditorium last night when he spoke under the auspices of the Northfield Schools, Inc. The students of both the Seminary and Mount Hermon with many friends and visitors completely filled the large edifice. Officials of the schools were on the platform and after the Japanese Christian and reformer had been introduced, he delivered a most interesting address based upon his life's work and experience.

This small mild Oriental who is regarded as Japan's greatest bulwark against Communism believes that the Occident must take the lead in bringing about the social salvation of the world and toward this end he is now making an intensive tour of the United States crusading for "economic Christianity." Consumer's cooperatives and credit unions which form the backbone of the "Kingdom of God" movement have already penetrated our western and southern states.

Those who heard him Thursday evening count it as a rare privilege. The audience had a real opportunity to appreciate the ability and leadership of this man who in his own way has done so much for his own people in the flowery Kingdom. Northfield was fortunate in being included in his itinerary of the United States.

Registrar Goodwin Starts Campaign On Faulty Auto Lights

Inspectors and State Police are after the drivers of automobiles with faulty head-lights. The campaign against drivers began last week and Registrar Goodwin says will not end until the lights on autos are properly in service. Failure will mean the suspension of registration and the return of the plates. Better look over your car at once and see that you are complying with the law in operating your car.

Haigis-For-Governor Club Hears Reports

The Northfield Haigis-For-Governor club has assumed large proportions for at a meeting of the directors held Wednesday evening at the Town Hall over

JOHN W. HAIGIS

600 cards of membership were received in the organization. The president of the club, Mr. Ambert G. Moody presided and the officers were all enthusiastic over the outlook for the nomination of Mr. Haigis at the State Convention, Northfield's vote is over 900.

Meteor Fragment From The Heavens Found On The Dale Farm

A section of a meteor or rather a fragment was discovered on the farm of Mr. William Dale near the center of the town last week. While strolling down the lane leading to the Central Vermont R. R. bridge Mr. William A. Wright noticed on the stone wall a peculiar rock resembling a jagged and burnt ball of iron. He was told by Mr. Dale that he had plowed it up from his farm and had placed it there. He received permission to remove the same and after a conference with Prof. F. L. Duley of East Northfield, the rock was taken to Prof. Charles F. Taber of the Science Department of the Seminary who after careful examination pronounced it a fragment from some meteor.

How long ago it had come to earth was very uncertain. It may have been a hundred years, maybe thousands of years ago but one thing was certain that it had penetrated the soil deeply until the action of nature and the plow had brought it to the light of day. It may have been a piece of the Bielas comet which came to earth and showered New England many years ago. The fragment measures about six by eight by twelve inches and will be suitably cared and placed in the Dickinson Library with the consent of Mr. Dale.

The Grange Play Was Well Received

The three-act comedy "Fuller's Fortune" presented by the local Grange in the town hall last Friday night was a fine success.

There was a large and appreciative audience and the play was well received. The cast was well chosen and fitted for their parts. Everyone did so well that it would be difficult to select anyone as the best.

The cast, under the able coaching of Carl L. Mason, was as follows: Rev. William A. White, Warren Brown, Margaret Leaphear, Mrs. Dorothy Miller, Leonard Lamphear, Mrs. Evelyn Parker, Edward Bolton and Miss Beryl James.

Tap dances were given between the acts.

The Grange Dramatic committee, Rev. George A. Bronson, Mrs. Leonard Lamphear, Mrs. Grace E. White and Mrs. Edward Bolton, wish to express their hearty appreciation to the cast. Mr. Carl L. Mason, the tap dancers, Rev. Lester P. White the Red Cross speaker, Mrs. Edward Crossett of Springfield who rendered piano solos, Prof. Erving Lawrence for his vocal solos and to the public who patronized the entertainment.

Were Wedded Saturday At Kingston Church

Miss Elizabeth Duryee Boeve, daughter of Mrs. Adelaide B. Boeve and the late Rev. Dr. Lucas Boeve, of East Northfield and Kingston, N. Y., was married to S. Gordon Watts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Watts of Kingston, in the First Dutch Reformed Church of that city of which her father was pastor until his death.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arthur E. Cademool, the pastor, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seeley, pastor of the Second Reformed church.

The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Barnard Joy and the bridesmaid was Miss Emily MacLachlin a classmate of the bride at Skidmore College. The bridegroom's father was best man. Miss Boeve has many friends in Northfield where each year she spent the summer season at her parents home in Mountain Park.

Danforth - Schryba

Mr. and Mrs. Lucas Schryba announce the marriage of their daughter, Helene, to Mr. Everett V. Danforth on Sunday, April 19, at San Diego, Calif.

Both the young people whose homes are in Northfield have the well-wishes and congratulations of their friends. They will reside in California.

The Fortnightly Has Annual Meeting And Poetic Program

The annual meeting of the Fortnightly was held in Alexander Hall last Friday afternoon. The usual reports were read and accepted and the treasurer's report showed the club in good financial standing.

The officers chosen for the coming year are: President, Mrs. Allen Wright; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Walter Hyde; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Clarence Steadler; recording secretary, Mrs. G. W. Norton; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Lee Bolton; treasurer, Mrs. Willis Parker; auditor, Miss Elizabeth Bruley.

Directors: Mrs. W. R. Moody, Mrs. Fred Pallam, Mrs. George Pefferle, Mrs. Fred Holton, Miss Ina Merriman, Mrs. Ross Spencer. The program committee consists of Mrs. H. H. Morse, Miss Marian Holton, Mrs. A. Gordon Moody, Mrs. A. E. Roberts, Miss Helen Vorce. The music committee: Mrs. Alice Briesmaster, Mrs. Frank Pearsall, Mrs. V. Savcheff, Mrs. Joseph Morgan, Miss Marian Mann.

Mrs. C. C. Conner, retiring president, spoke of her pleasure in serving the club, and made certain recommendations. Among these was a hope that the Evening Study Group be continued, a more definite social program be arranged, and plans be made toward securing a Women's Club House for Northfield.

Mrs. Lopez sang three selections, L'Amour Toujours, L'Amour by Fimil, Daffodil Comes Home Today by Denmore and Sweet Phyllis by Strickland. These numbers were greatly enjoyed.

Mr. Carlos P. Day entertained in a most pleasing manner by reading from his own poems. Most of the poems were lyrical and of everyday themes in a musical way. He sang of the birds, of boyhood scenes, of experiences that came to him in later years. Humor and pathos blended in true poetical fashion, moving the audience to tears and laughter.

The Summons was a call to the out-of-doors. Red Wing Blackbird, most striking bird of the swamp with his call of "over here." The Black Crowned Night Heron, "a shadow in the evening sky." The English Sparrow, vagabond of Birdom, dusty, rusty, freely criticized. The Catbird, "Thous flittings grey ventriloquist," his artless notes freely spilt.

Mr. Day said it would be interesting to know just how poems come to the poet, they "just come." It is the writer's delight to share his poems. One of the beauties of poetry is its sound value, rhythm; the play of vowel and consonant.

We quote his Camp Prayer, one stanza:

For the love of the hearth and a friend,
For our Land and a life that is free.
For blessings that fall with-out end,
Our God, we give thanks to Thee.

Announcement will be made giving details of the Pilgrimage just as soon as they are completed.

Post Warrant Here For Primary Election

A warrant for the primary elections on April 28 has been posted and calls for the opening of the polls at the Town Hall from two to eight o'clock.

The voters will elect the following Democratic representatives: Delegates at large, eight; alternate delegates at large, eight; district delegates, two; alternate district delegates, two; delegate to State convention, one.

Republican representatives: Delegates at large, four; alternate delegates at large, four; district delegates, two; alternate district delegates, two; delegate to State convention, one.

The Democrats and Republicans will each choose eight members of their local town committee. An opportunity to show preference for Presidential candidates will be allowed on the ballot.

The Only True Success

by Lawrence
Hawthorne

What is the truest measure of success?
Is it a million-dollar bank account?
Is it a lengthy list of stocks and bonds?
Is it, perhaps, a generous amount
Of public acclamation and applause?
Which one of these—if any—designates
The surest indication that a man
Deserves the commendation of his mates?

There must be something better, more ideal
By which to value genuine success!
Material possessions, power, fame—
These things do not bring lasting happiness!
These things so often bear the brand of pride;
Their code is one of selfishness and greed;
Oh, surely, there must be some higher goal,
And true success must have a nobler creed!

Have we not learned that honesty and right,
Humility and friendliness and cheer
Alone can hold the confidence of men,
And bring increasing joy from year to year?
Have we not learned to use the Golden Rule
As our unerring guide by which to live?
Success is never gained through what we get,
But only through the happiness we give!

Smart Hostesses Include Pitcher of Honey When Serving Coffee. Provides New Use for One of Oldest Known Foods.

HONEY is one of the oldest foods known. In fact, it is reported that a jar of honey placed in the tomb of one of Egypt's great queens some 3,300 years ago was found recently, still liquid and fragrant after all those weighty years. Honey is not only a delicious food, it's also a healthful one.

Child specialists stress its virtues in children's diets, because honey needs practically no digestion. The flavor of honey is due to the aromatic substances found in the nectar of flowers.

Incidentally, if you wish to experience a new thrill in your morning, afternoon or evening coffee, try adding a bit of pure honey.

The next time you serve coffee when you entertain, include a jar or pitcher of honey along with the cream and sugar, and give your guests an opportunity to try this new and delightful use for honey.

Isn't it significant that there are over 7,000,000 homes in the United States with ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION, (and that there are over 7,000,000 people who say that electricity is the ideal way to refrigerate)?

So do you see the cost of operating an ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR is less than 5 cents a day. This is no guess—it is based on recent tests in America. Northampton and Greenfield that showed an average usage of only 26 kw. hrs. a month per refrigerator.

A Coach for Fairy Princess

Train Schedules To Change Sunday

Faster and more frequent service on the Connecticut river line of the Pittsburg division of the Boston and Maine railroad and a change in the time of the westbound Minute Man for Chicago are among the most important changes shown in the new spring time tables of the Boston & Maine railroad.

The schedules become effective Sunday morning with the advent of daylight saving time for 1936, and will be available for public distribution on Saturday.

The early morning train from Springfield to White River will now depart from Springfield at 6 a. m. (e.s.t.) and arrive in White River Jct. at 9:40 a. m. (e.s.t.), a 40-minute reduction in running time. Stops of this train will be discontinued at Bernardston, Mt. Hermon, and eight northern points. To take care of local passengers, stops will be added to a train leaving Springfield at 8:30 a. m., serving Bernardston and Mt. Hermon.

Train 717, which last year left Springfield for White River Jct. at 2:40 p. m., will this year leave Springfield at 2:45 p. m. (e.s.t.) A train will leave Springfield at 7:40 p. m. (e.s.t.) and, carrying through parlor car and coach from New York, will arrive in White River Jct. at 10:50 p. m., one hour and nine minutes earlier than last year. This train will omit stops at Holyoke, South Deerfield and East Northfield.

The early morning train will leave White River at 5:50 a. m. (e.s.t.) and eliminating the stop at Deerfield will arrive in Springfield at 9:50 a. m. (e.s.t.) connecting with a train due in New York at 1:35 p. m. and in Washington, D. C. at 6:00 p. m.

Most of the other trains have been advanced one hour to meet the change in time, although some of them have had their schedules shifted somewhat to provide more convenient service and connections.

The Minute Man will leave Greenfield westward at 6:38 and eastward at 3:21 p. m. Bus schedules will be set ahead one hour.

SOUTH VERNON

The Malison Quartette of Worcester is expected to take part in the services at the church on Sunday.

All services at the South Vernon church are conducted on Standard time.

Miss Hannah Stocks, a returned missionary from China will speak at the So. Vernon church next Friday evening.

Miss Irene Grinnell who has been quite ill with pneumonia is reported as much improved.

Mrs. Ralph Holton and her children who have been visiting with her father at Belleville, N. J. have returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Darby.

A very interesting program was rendered at the South Schoolhouse last Tuesday evening under the auspices of the South Vernon P. T. A. Students from the Seminary and Mount Hermon assisted on the program. At the close refreshments were served.

Rev. Ernest Edmunds now of Dorset, Vt., called upon friends here last week.

Rev. and Mrs. Frank H. Leavitt returned from St. Petersburg, Fla., where they spent the winter, to the Vernon Home last Tuesday evening.

Miss Caroline Lane, who has spent the winter at the Vernon Home, has returned to her home in East Northfield.

To Give Play

The Trinitarian Congregational Church Choir members are busy rehearsing for a play to be held in the Town Hall, Wednesday, May 20. The proceeds are to be used to defray the choir expenses.

Watch The Press for more particulars next week.

Would you like to make all kinds of delicious frozen desserts and cool salads this summer? Would you like to have lots of ice cubes on hand for cold drinks? You can (of course) have them for little cost with an ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR!

4

Don't be scared—but doctors tell us that 50° degrees is the danger point for foods. An ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR can keep the temperature at 45 degrees year round, guarding your health and paying for itself in food savings alone. Worthwhile!

Member of Byrd Expedition Speaks At The Seminary

Stewart D. Paine, a member of Admiral Byrd's second expedition to the Antarctic presented a lecture on his experiences to the girls of Northfield Seminary April 18. Mr. Paine, son of the late Ralph D. Paine, a well-known author, lecturer and war correspondent was graduated from Yale in 1933. In the fall of 1933 he left with Admiral Byrd on the Second Expedition.

On the expedition Mr. Paine served as dog driver, navigator, and radio operator. On the Queen Maude Geological Party he served in all three positions. This expedition was within 180 miles of the South Pole when it reached the great central Antarctic plateau. On this journey he and his two companions marched with the American flag farther south than it had ever been. Their 1500-mile sledge journey was one of the longest ever accomplished in Polar regions.

Serving as a navigator on the Fall Base Laying Journey gives Mr. Paine the doubtful distinction of making the Coldest March journey on the Antarctic records. The credit of doing more sledging by dog team than any other member of the expedition allows him a distinction all his own.

In opening his talk he began a comparison of the North and South Poles. The South Pole is a continent surrounded by water 10,000 feet below sea level, while the North Pole is water surrounded by a continent 10,000 feet above sea level. The South Pole has no inhabitants except the Emperor Penguin and the area still to be explored is about the size of the U. S. On the other hand the North Pole is inhabited by Eskimos and is well known.

The purpose of this trip was for straight exploration and for scientific information. It was a private enterprise although the government loaned them a few pieces which they returned. Tydol, Sears Roebuck and General Foods contributed many articles, gasoline, food, clothing and General Foods sponsored broadcasts.

In the fall of 1933 the expedition left Boston and sailed South passing through the Panama Canal. Their last stop in civilization was at New Zealand. They landed in the Bay of Wales in January, 1934 and the unloading began. Supplies had to be hauled nine miles to Little America so they cached the supplies in three places. On February 5 the ship left to prevent its being clogged in the ice.

Little America is a floating ice cake but the Ross Barrier, part of which is attached, seems to hold it intact. There are 15 shacks here all connected by tunnels. The dogs were kept inside. Each team had its own room and each dog his own crate. Radio communication, victrolas, bridge games and the Antartic University formed means of entertainment besides the 3000 volume library. Mr. Paine said that the winter night was a real test of character but as soon as the sun reappeared all ill feeling vanished.

Mr. Paine declared that Admiral Byrd's wonderful personality, qualities of leadership, fairness, consideration, cautiousness and courage helped hold the party together. He remarked that the Admiral had never lost a man in any of his flight—one over the Arctic, two in the Antarctic and one transatlantic. Mr. Paine said that when Admiral Byrd decided to go to Advance Base alone it was because he would not ask another to do what he himself would not do first.

During his stay in the shack at Advance Base, Byrd hurt his arm which was so painful he could not broadcast often. The purpose of his seclusion was to make note of the weather conditions inland. A rescue party started about July 1 although none was supposed to start towards the base until October. They found the admiral in a state of collapse caused by carbon monoxide fumes. Together they lived there four months before returning.

On the Queen Maude Expedition everything had to be carried with them. Food consisted of two pounds a day and supper was the heaviest meal. There were three men and each had a dog team of nine. The lead dog had the chief position and the master must have complete confidence in him. In comparison with the lead dog's intelligence the other's can be quite ignorant. All they must know is go, stop and sit down. Jack, the enormous Labrador husky, broke trail for two thousand miles. This had never been done by another dog.

Mr. Paine concluded his lecture with still pictures which he had taken himself on the journey. He showed several of the mountain ranges and interesting pictures of the camp at Little America.

SEMINARY ITEMS

Dr. Boyd Edwards of Mercersburg Academy was the speaker at both services Sunday, April 19 at Sage Chapel. Using as his text a quotation from St. Paul,
"The eye cannot say to the hand,
I have no need of you," he said that man has two necessities, a horizon of the eye and a house of the hand. The ideal of the eye must be housed by the hand in order to be tangible real and worthwhile. Dr. Edwards says that the mistake of this generation is the wish to discard utterly the hand-made houses in order to liberate the ideal.

In his evening sermon he pointed out that we are living in a right-handed world of materialism, neglecting utterly the development of our left-handed spirituality. Even those of us who have any spiritual qualities fail to lift them to God. He said that we are true to the promise and obligations of our right hand,
but unmindful of the demands
made by our left hands.

Dr. Henry Sloane Collin of Union Theological Seminary will speak at both services in Sage Chapel on April 26. Dr. Collin was recently listed among the 12
foremost speakers of the 1936
Northfield General Conference.

Dr. William H. Powers, Dean of Hendrick Chapel, Syracuse University, interviewed girls considering Syracuse in their choice of college on Wednesday.
Dean Powers is well known in educational circles and has spoken in Sage Chapel.

New books are being displayed in Talcott Library during the week. There are about 120 of these new books which will be in circulation after Thursday.
During the past week Miss Stella Morse, librarian, has had on display books and material about the Second Byrd Antarctic Expedition of which Mr. Stewart Paine, lecturer last Saturday evening in Silverthorne Hall, was a member.

The library committee was invited by that of Mount Hermon to a tea Wednesday afternoon at Mount Hermon.

Miss Morse plans soon to have in display posters of wild flowers which were printed by the Smithsonian Institute. She hopes to have also the real flowers to illustrate the prints further. This was a pleasant and very enlightening display last year and will be of new interest this Spring.

Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan, representative in Europe of the National Council for Prevention of War will speak at Northfield Seminary at 10:00 a. m. Saturday. She is an outstanding international figure, and authority on questions of naval armament.
She comes to America directly from the present London Naval Conference and after a speaking tour plans to return there.

SPRING DAY CLEANING

Palmer Dry Cleaning Service is the oldest in the State of Vermont, he being the first to start that business in his State over thirty-five years ago. You now receive the benefit of his long experience in business while many of the fly-by-night cleaners have come and gone. You have first, a GOOD plant, then EXPERIENCED help, some of whom have been here since we started in business and know how to do their work well. We send garments to New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Georgia,
North Carolina, Maine, New Hampshire and other places. This is proof of our QUALITY WORK done and we will continue to do the same kind of work while we are in business. Our truck is in your town

Protect Elm Trees

Should Dutch Elm Disease invade Massachusetts, the state would be faced with the potential loss of 3,000,000 trees, according to M. A. McKenzie o
the Massachusetts State College.
Aside from the monetary loss of $300,000,000, this would mean a tremendous esthetic loss to New England landscape as we have come to associate it with the American elm, he said.

As yet no Dutch Elm Disease has occurred in the state, but New York and Connecticut have reported affected trees within 45 miles of the Massachusetts line. Mr. McKenzie said that no cure for the disease has yet been discovered, although workers are busy at the State College as well as in the state colleges of the neighboring states trying to find some remedy.

The only hope of preserving the elms seems to lie in the early recognition of affected trees and their prompt eradication, he said. Measures to increase the health and resistance of the trees may also help. Under this category would come such practices as spraying the trees to prevent attacks on the foliage by fungous and insect pests, and the employment of pruning, sanitation, watering, and feeding to promote general
health and vigor.

Should it be necessary to remove and destroy a tree the cost averages $100. On this figure alone, the value of $300,000,000 for Massachusetts elm trees is based. The cost of replacing them with other shade trees would bring this value much higher.

Mr. McKenzie said that the disease shows itself in the wilting and yellowing of leaves on terminal twigs and in the early falling of the leaves. These signs are not positive, but they should lead to suspicion. The only sure method of identifying the disease is by means of a laboratory diagnosis. He urged persons finding signs of the disease to send sample twigs to the State College at Amherst for tests.

Such specimens should be six-inch sections of half-inch diseased twigs, and should be labeled with the location of the tree and the sender's name and address. Copies of a printed circular on Dutch Elm Disease are also available at the college and may be obtained free on request.

LITTLE girls may be made of
"sugar and spice and everything nice," as the children's jingle goes, but I stoutly maintain that this description belongs to gingerbread—that spicy, old-fashioned delicacy of which we never tire.

When gingerbread turns a somersault and becomes a modern upside down cake, it becomes even more alluring with apples and raisins mingling their goodness on the "top-side." Served warm, with whipped cream, this is a veritable poem in gingerbread.

Gingerbread Upside Down Cake
2 cups sifted cake flour; 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder; ¼ teaspoon soda; 2 teaspoons ginger; 1 teaspoon cinnamon; ½ teaspoon salt; 1/3 cup butter or other shortening; ½ cup sugar; 1 egg, unbeaten; 2/3 cup molasses; ¼ cup sour milk or buttermilk.

2 tablespoons butter; ¼ cup molasses; ¼ cup raisins; 3 apples,
pared, cored, and thinly sliced.
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda, spices, and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well; then molasses. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth.

Melt 2 tablespoons butter in 8x8x2-inch pan or 8-inch skillet.
Add molasses and raisins. Heat over low flame. Blend and arrange apples to cover surface of molasses mixture. Turn batter out on contents of pan. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 50 minutes, or until done. Loosen cake from sides of pan with spatula. Turn upside down on dish with raisins and apples on top. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired.

EDITORIAL

"It's an ill wind that blows no one good," according to the old saw. And it also seems to be a rare flood that hasn't its mitigating effects.

The floods that recently swept the country, killing many persons, devastating the homes of hundreds of thousands, and doing untold millions of property damage, were as bad as any in our history, and the worst of recent times. The mitigating effects lie in the fact that they have made necessary a tremendous amount of rebuilding—and that industry, notably the long-leatherage heavy industries, will be stimulated accordingly.

One almost inevitable result of the floods will be a long-time program of flood-control projects, to stop such catastrophes in the near future. Such a program will entail tremendous expenditures over a period of years will bring business to all basic industries.

A more immediate result will be the great job of repairing machinery in flooded factories and places of business. Electrical equipment, machine tools, meters and other instruments, etc.—no one yet knows how much of this kind of goods are ruined. Some of it can be repaired, much of it must be replaced entirely. In either case, industry is going to find a vast number of rush orders on its hands.

It is estimated that insurance coverage of flood damage to businesses amounted to only 1 per cent. A similar situation exists in regard to flooded homes. So businesses and individuals will have to dig into their own pockets to pay the astronomical bill.

When a little boy eats too many green apples, he gets a terribly bad stomach ache. He doesn't get rid of it until he gets rid of the green apples.

Public extravagances are the "green apples" which the public has been swallowing in every corner of our country—they are so easy to take.

The people are now feeling the first warning of a coming tax stomach ache.

The only sound remedy will be a stiff dose of the castor oil of taxation to liquidate their obligations. It won't be pleasant, but it will be effective.

Nice tasting palliatives and more green apples will simply bring on harder cramps.

An offer of 715 inches of liquor advertising was offered to the Press last week by an advertising agency in New York. The account was declined. This means that the editor forsook an amount of nearly $150 income because he had taken a stand on this class of advertising. Yet there are good temperance folk here in Northfield who fail to support by subscription, advertising or printing, their local paper which endeavors to stand for some sort of principle, honor and decency on the liquor question.

Christ's Teaching

Into the dead world of religious formula, creed, and law, Christ came with a new message and a new spirit and gave to the world a new religion. Sent of God, it was His mission to explain to mankind real religion, true worship, the personality of God, and what men had a right to expect and hope for themselves in this life and in the world to come.

His teachings in many instances fulfilled the highest and the best of the Jewish teachings. Ofttimes they were based directly upon the teachings of the Judaism of His day. The best of these old teachings He regenerated—infused into them the spirit of life, and love and power.

For instance, the ancient Jewish Sabbath, which was a day of rest, according to the law, was revitalized by his spirit; and lo, the Christian Sabbath, the Lord's Day, a day of rest and vital worship came into being. The implications of a Christian Sabbath are different in many aspects from those of the old Sabbath. For this new day commemorates the resurrection and symbolizes the Christian regeneration into a new and better state of life. How thankful we are for the new things of Easter—His, the Lord's Day.

Another of the new things is the definite emphasis placed upon offerings, burnt offerings, and sin offerings, in temple worship and mountain worship were formal and obligatory. The new offerings, a part of real Christian worship, are joy offerings and thank-offerings unbidden and unbidden by any man or system. The Christian is taught to give and to worship as his heart dictates and through love and loyalty; not in obedience to any hard and fast religious laws. Easter also emphasizes the essential equality of man. The rich man worships in the same humble spirit as those of the poorest of the church folk.

There is no place for the 'Pharisee' and the Publican story in the Christian church. For here is but one Gospel message, for rich and poor, for privileged and underprivileged, for white and black.

Easter stresses also the simplicity of religion, one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one gospel of love, one message of forgiveness to be heralded and proclaimed alike to all mankind.

As Easter is celebrated the world around the Easter dynamic urges Christians to tell others the story of Christ's love; His plan of redemption; the religion of love of God, the Father; and His yearning for the children of men. This is the new and living way! On this holy day, the Resurrection Day, Christ breaking the bonds of sin and death, set the seal of truth upon all His teachings and upon the reality of His life, and set free light and immortality.

Ours it is to follow His immortal teachings throughout all the resurrection days of our life.

Born In The Flood

(Springfield Republican)

Owl Interest Lovely Myth nurses her calf, born the night the flood hit Pine Meadows, the farming plain between Northfield and Turners Falls. Insensible of the drama in which she played a lone surviving role. Lovely Myth, sired by Owl Interest and granddaughter of Bess Louise Ann, who in 1930 was champion senior two-year-old in the state, was of the herd of Charles H. Tenney, whose loss of 340 fine Jerseys is one of the biggest single tragedies of the flood. On Wednesday morning, the 18th, the river was lashing toward the heart of the plain, an elongated piece of farmland about two miles long and three-quarters of a mile wide bordered on one side by the Connecticut and on the other by a hill.

In the flood of 1927 the river cut across the plain and backed in around the base of the hill, transforming the six farms into an island, but a refuge of safety nevertheless. The plain had never been flooded. By noon on the 18th, it became apparent that things were going to be much worse than nine years before. Rising waters were eating into the farmland, gnawing closer and closer to the dairy barns. State police sent down a motor boat carrying an improvised sort of ferry to take the cattle on the plains to safety. But the swift current filled with pounding ice cakes prevented them from even unloading the life-saving raft.

Mr. Tenney and his nearest neighbor got together in consultation. What best to do? Unlike horses, cows will not swim. Neither will they follow a leader like sheep. In face of disaster they stand and get bothered—and take it. "Will you tie or set your cattle free?" Tenney said to have asked his neighbor. "I'll leave mine loose," the neighbor replied. "Then I'll tie mine." Mr. Tenney is reported as rejoicing.

The 20 men who work on the Tenney farm busied themselves, as the flood invaded the buildings, transporting to safety as many as possible of this year's hatch of chickens two to six weeks old. Up to 3:00 p. m. they had saved 4,000 out of a total of 5,000. By then they were working up to their waists in water. It was time to leave; the last of the 60 people who live on the plain were being taken off by boats. Mr. Tenney's cow, whose full official name is Owl Interest Lovely Myth, was due to calf that very night or the next. As a parting gesture the men placed her in a hay mow, the highest available spot in the large dairy barn.

The next day a trip was made by boat to the building. But two hearts were beating in all the structure. Lovely Myth and her baby heifer were alive—contentedly floating on an island of hay in the mow. They were taken away by boat to drier quarters on the hill, the only survivors of all the cattle of all the farmers on the plain, whose entire loss in livestock amounted to 425 head. Tied and loose alike succumbed to a hazard no man could forestall—except Lovely Myth and her flood-born heifer.

Island History

(Bennington Banner)

Brattleboro has lost an island. Ever since the white man came to this country there have been two islands in the Connecticut river just in front of Brattleboro. One was nameless and the other was Root Island. Root Island was nothing but a sandbank and of no importance whatever, but the other island 50 years ago probably contained somewhere from 40 to 60 acres most of which was good farm land and was reached by a toll bridge from Brattleboro from which the main road to Hinsdale and Keene crossed the island to a bridge over what known as the Little River. In those days the town baseball park was on this island and when state prohibition struck Vermont the island furnished a refuge from New Hampshire for liquor dealers for many years. Building the dam at Vernon submerged Root Island for good and reduced the unnamed larger island one-half or more in size. However, the big dam apparently changed the currents of the river and the island has been growing smaller until it finally disappeared in the recent flood. An island in any river is usually the result of prevailing currents depositing sand and silt at certain points. Probably Brattleboro could get its island back by blowing up the Vernon dam and then waiting for 200 to 500 years for the material to gather in the proper place.

Red Cross Action; What They Will Do

Officials in charge of Red Cross rehabilitation have made a very clear statement of what the Red Cross will immediately undertake in this section. Colonel Staley of Washington in charge of this district has stated that:

First, Red Cross will meet needs, not necessarily losses. For example, they will buy serviceable furniture, floor coverings and utensils, but will not replace musical instruments. A typical relief case might be handled as follows: Investigation shows that William Cassidy lost all the downstairs furnishings in the flood. His needs would be summarized like this: 1. Three floor coverings; 2. Complete set of cooking utensils; 3. New motor on washing machine and new electric iron; 4. Furniture for kitchen and dining room.

In regard to items, 1, 3, and 4, the Red Cross worker would ask Mr. and Mrs. Cassidy which local store they wished to patronize in re-furnishing according to the detailed stipulation on the report sheet. They are given disbursement orders to give to the stores at which they wish to purchase their goods. Previous to this the merchants and the worker have come to an understanding in regard to fair prices for goods to be disbursed. Therefore each disbursement order will be for a certain amount and for certain goods which will meet the requirements of the Cassidy's.

All repairs and replacements totaling less than $75 will be approved and checked by Colonel Staley, and the local board. Larger estimates are given a check by Harold B. Newman of Springfield who is in charge of disbursements for the entire district. They are then sent to the local board for final review. The local board may lower but cannot raise a disbursement estimate approved by Mr. Newman. Each case is so thoroughly investigated that there is little change of fraud or deceit.
